

Changing online payment processors

If you have unpaid online payments

As part of the change being made by your financial institution, you must cancel online payments that have been sent but not yet paid. To cancel these sent but unpaid payments, see How do I cancel a payment?

Once you've fully completed making all changes required by your financial institution, you can resend the online payments to your financial institution.